KILL WOUNDED.

British and Native Allies Are Charged With Shocking Cruelty in Africa.

New York, July 17.—The Sun has the following cable from Johannesburg: The Sunday Times makes serious charges against the conductors of the operations to suppress the native rebels. It says that after a fight in the Bloubaai valley the native levies in the British service killed 3,000 natives, including the wounded.

Major Morley of the Transvaal light infantry has written to a friend saying that no quarter is being given. Troops searching the country are shooting natives on sight, burning kraals and driving off cattle.

Other private letters assert that the troops are sickened with the slaughter and the shooting of prisoners when the camps are moved.

The head of the rebel chief, Bambata, was severed by Dr. Platt and exhibited for two days before it was buried.

A UNIQUE RECORD

Not Another Like It in Our Broad Republic.

To give positive home testimony in every locality is of itself unanswerable proof of merit; but when we add to this the continued endorsement from people who testified years ago no evidence can be stronger. A Barre citizen gratefully acknowledges the good received from Doan's Kidney Pills, and when time has tested the cure we find the same hearty endorsement, with added enthusiasm and continued praise. Cases of this kind are plentiful in the work of Doan's Kidney Pills and such a record is unique in the annals of medicine.

C. A. Churchill, contractor and builder, of 35 Merchant street, Barre, Vt., says: "I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got from E. A. Drown, druggist, through our Barre newspapers in a statement given eight years ago. I used them at that time and was so greatly benefited that I kept on taking them until the symptoms of kidney complaint and weakness of the back and joints disappeared. It is now as much pleasure to recommend this valuable remedy as it was at the time when they relieved me of my pain and suffering. I have on several occasions used Doan's Kidney Pills since then and always with the same good results. They are certainly worthy of endorsement and I have advised many friends and acquaintances to use them."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

HOW IT WORKED.

Wife's Scheme to Cure Her Husband of Excessive Smoking.

She read about it in the back of a magazine. The advertisement said that it was tasteless, that it could be administered in the breakfast coffee and that it would cure the most confirmed smoker of the tobacco habit without his knowledge.

To be sure Elmer smoked only three or four cigars a day. Still, why should he smoke at all? She didn't.

So she wrote for the cure, and in due time it arrived in a plain sealed package with full instructions inside.

Unfortunately it arrived before she was up. Elmer opened it, smiled to himself, sealed it up again and said nothing.

The next morning she gave him his first dose.

"This coffee has a bitter taste, hasn't it?" he asked.

"Your stomach must be out of order," she answered. "It tastes all right to me."

"Strange."

That night he brought home a large new box of cigars. Usually after dinner he smoked once, but that night he smoked all the evening. The atmosphere was thick.

The second morning he complained again about the coffee's bitterness.

"Well, no wonder your taste is out of order," she said reproachfully, "considering how you smoked last night."

"I've had the most remarkable craving for tobacco lately," he muttered.

And at dusk he brought home a costly meerschaum pipe and a pound of Cavendish and, shutting himself up in the library, smoked like a forest fire until bedtime.

"Haden't we better change the coffee? Surely you must have noticed its odd taste," he said on the third morning.

"No, I haven't noticed it," she answered faintly.

He brought home from the city in the evening a huge tin box of Egyptian cigarettes, a bookish and a jar of Turkish tobacco.

"I never enjoyed smoking as I've done lately," he explained. "I can't keep a cigar out of my mouth."

And that night he smoked cigars and cigarettes, meerschaum and bookish till he saw his rise and hurry, with a vindictive look, to the kitchen.

Following on tiptoe, he saw her unlock a drawer, take out a bottle that he knew and pour its contents into the sink. He chuckled.

And thereafter he complained no more about the coffee and his tobacco appetite shrunk back to its normal proportions.—Chicago Record-Herald.

IN BOSTON.

Everything is near everything else. It is a city of annihilated distances.

"Church cars" are run on Sundays, making a circuit of the Back Bay places of worship.

Copley square for once seems disappointing. Its beautiful buildings appear to have been torn down.

Everybody is polite, policemen included. Charges are moderate. The streets are clean. The public garden is a joy forever.

On the walls of the huge waiting room of the South station the names of the counties of the state are painted to serve as meeting places for passengers.

At the Dudley street terminal passengers walk downstairs into a large pen through which cars for all points pass. No transfer checks are used and there is no confusion.—New York World.

Rice.

Rice is less nutritious than wheat. Rice is made more digestible by being kept. It should not be eaten for some months after being gathered.
